

Eating Disorders

Eating disorders are serious mental health conditions that affect how people relate to food, body image, and self-worth. At KaziMind Wellness, we help individuals and families understand, manage, and recover from these challenges.

1. Anorexia Nervosa

A condition marked by extreme restriction of food intake, intense fear of gaining weight, and a distorted body image.

2. Bulimia Nervosa

Characterized by cycles of binge eating followed by compensatory behaviors such as vomiting, fasting, or excessive exercise.

3. Binge-Eating Disorder (BED)

Involves repeated episodes of eating unusually large amounts of food with a feeling of loss of control, without purging.

4. Avoidant/Restrictive Food Intake Disorder (ARFID)

An eating disturbance where individuals avoid or restrict food intake due to sensory issues, lack of interest in food, or fear of negative consequences (like choking).

5. Other Specified Feeding or Eating Disorder (OSFED)

Eating disorder symptoms that don't fully fit into the above categories but still cause significant distress and health challenges (e.g., atypical anorexia, purging disorder).

6. Pica

Persistent eating of non-food substances such as chalk, paper, soil, or hair.

7. Rumination Disorder

Recurrent regurgitation of food, which may be re-chewed, re-swallowed, or spit out.

Eating disorders are treatable. With a proper diagnosis by a qualified psychologist using professional clinical criteria, individuals can receive the right support and begin their journey to recovery.
